

March 31, 2006

Dear 2006 Region E Conference participants,

On behalf of Drexel University College of Engineering, it is my privilege to welcome you to the 2006 Region E Society of Women Engineers Conference. It is an honor to host this event here at Drexel University. I am proud of the University and I am eager to share with you some of its enlightening and charming offerings.

Drexel University is the third largest private engineering college in the nation and we are known as a leader in engineering education. Our college has reached unprecedented heights of recognition through our innovative research accomplishments, strong graduate programs and innovative initiatives such as SuperNOVA, which caters to the most technically talented young minds by offering integrated B.S.-PhD. study in highly interdisciplinary fields.

Once again I want to welcome you to the city of Philadelphia and Drexel University. As you go through your weekend here please share in our excitement as we venture into engineering new frontiers.

Sincerely,

Dr. Selçuk Güçeri, Dean
College of Engineering
